Coyote Hill is currently interviewing for Homeparents.

Herb and Angel Bailey and their family are moving on to new things. They have been wonderful for Coyote Hill and all the children that have been entrusted to their care. Following is a note from Herb, to you.

"Angel and I have had the pleasure of serving here as house parents over the past couple of years. We have learned so much about ourselves. We have seen firsthand how important being the hands and feet of love affects the lives of children in the fragile state that these find themselves. We are about community and we have seen and experienced community in a different and more intimate level here. At the end of May we will be moving to Nashville to serve in the position of community minister at City Church of East Nashville. We will be finding opportunities to connect the church there with places to serve in the community and again being the hands and feet of love. Thank you all for the support that you have given to both our family and the community of Coyote Hill Christian Children's Home."

It looks like they are working on a lawnmower...

... but they are really working on a future.

It's just that we've learned most life-lessons are more effectively taught over a project than an office desk.

This is important work we're doing here.

And in the process ...
we might even fix the lawnmower.

April 2009 - Quarterly Newsletter

Two older youth help work some cattle, while two younger ones get to watch from a ringside perch.

For the youth who wish to participate, opportunities abound such as this to learn more about the farm setting and working together.

Maybe opportunities such as this are why a girl recently wrote the following message when she learned she would be leaving Coyote Hill and returning home:

Coyote Hill, I'm gonna miss you when I leave and I will always remember the fun I had while being here. Coyote Hill, you're amazing In every way possible!!!

The Year of the Volunteer

This year at Coyote Hill we are wanting to really reach out to volunteers even more than in the past. It not only really helps us at Coyote Hill save money on projects for the kids, but also gets many in the community involved in a more direct way to make a difference in the life of a child or family in need.

If you or your group would like to know more, give us a call and we'll see if we can find a good fit that will be meaningful for everyone.
